

Providing proof of your identity

You can prove your identity (ID) in one of two ways (see explanations below):

Electronic verification

or

Physical certification

Electronic verification

The easiest way to verify your identity is electronically.

If this option is available on the form you're filling out, simply complete it and provide the details of any two of the following documents where specified:

- Passport
- Driver licence
- Medicare card

We can verify your identity electronically via:

- Australian data sources, including the records of public and private authorities such as the Australian Electoral Roll, and
- Credit reporting agency Illion if required.

The information match request will be conducted by a third party, and you will be asked to agree to this on the form as well.

Physical certification

How to certify physical copies of your ID:

1. Photocopy both sides of your ID (as applicable):

The photocopy should:

- be easy to read
- show your current ID in full (expired ID won't be accepted)
- have your current residential address on it.

See 'Proof of ID for certified documents' on page 2 for acceptable forms of ID.

2. Take your photocopies and physical ID to someone who can certify your ID¹:

A police officer

A medical practitioner

A post office employee²

A financial adviser or financial planner

¹ See page 3 'Other ways to prove your identity' for a list of people who are allowed to certify documents.

² Australia Post charges a fee for each photocopy you need to get certified. The certifier must be a permanent employee of Australia Post with at least two years of continuous service.

3. Get them to certify your ID:

Compare
The certifier should compare the photocopy to your original ID.

Stamp or write the certification
“I certify that this document is a true copy of the original sighted by me...”

The documents we receive from you must have been certified and dated within the last 6 months. We can't accept undated documents. All ID documents and certifications must be in the English language. All overseas documents in a foreign language must be translated into English by an accredited translator.

Include the date
‘...on this day [date],[month],[year]’

Their signature

Their personal details
Name, qualification and registration number.

4. Send copies of your certified ID to us by email or mail (see Contact details below).

Proof of ID for certified documents¹

I want to	How much	What ID you need to give us
		Primary photographic ID		Additional ID
Open an account based pension	Any amount	Driver licence, passport or government-issued proof of age card	and	Either one bill (power, telephone) or one bank statement issued within the last three months
Change the bank account my account based pension is paid into	Not applicable	Driver licence, passport or government-issued proof of age card
Rollover to another regulated super fund	Any amount	Driver licence, passport or government-issued proof of age card
Rollover to a SMSF	Any amount	Driver licence, passport or government-issued proof of age card	and	A SMSF bank document that clearly displays the SMSF account name, BSB and account number issued within the last twelve months
Withdrawal	Up to $10,000	Driver licence, passport or government-issued proof of age card
	Over $10,000 up to $50,000	Driver licence, passport or government-issued proof of age card	and	Either one bill (power, telephone) or one bank statement issued within the last three months
	Over $50,000 up to $75,000	Driver licence, passport or government-issued proof of age card	and	Either two bills (power, telephone) or two bank statements issued within the last three months
	Over $75,000	Driver licence, passport or government-issued proof of age card	and	Either three bills (power, telephone) or three bank statements issued within the last three months.

The ID documents you submit must be current and not expired. If using your driver licence or government-issued proof of age card, you will need to copy both sides. Bills or bank statements must have the same residential address as your AustralianSuper account. SMSF bank documents must have the same address as the registered SMSF. AustralianSuper reserves the right to request additional certified identification documents where required. If you choose to use a government-issued proof of age card, it must be one issued by your state or territory government. No alternatives will be accepted.

¹ Please note that this table only includes the most common scenarios for members. For ID requirements outside these situations, please refer to the individual form.

Other ways to prove your identity

If you don't have a driver licence, passport or government-issued proof of age card you will need to have two documents physically certified (see page 1):

One of these:

- birth certificate or birth extract
- citizenship certificate issued by the Commonwealth
- pension card issued by Centrelink that entitles a person to financial benefits.

And one of these:

- a letter from Centrelink regarding a government assistance payment (less than 12 months old)
- Australian Taxation Office notice of assessment (less than 12 months old)
- rates notice (less than 12 months old).

All ID should show your name and residential address.

Can't get to a post office or police station?

These other people are allowed to certify documents:

- a finance company officer with two or more years of continuous service (with one or more finance companies)
- a Notary Public¹
- a registrar or deputy registrar of a court¹
- a Justice of the Peace¹
- a person enrolled on the roll of a state or territory Supreme Court or the High Court of Australia, as a legal practitioner
- an Australian consular officer or an Australian diplomatic officer¹
- a judge of a court¹
- a magistrate
- a Chief Executive Officer of a Commonwealth court
- a pharmacist, dentist or optometrist.

¹ If you live overseas these people can certify your documents.

Signing for others and name changes

If you're signing for others or have changed your name, you'll also need to provide a certified copy of a linking document. Linking documents for name changes include a marriage certificate, deed poll or change of name certificate. Linking documents for signing on someone else's behalf include a Power of Attorney or Financial Administrator appointment papers.

If you can't use electronic verification, or provide physical copies of certified ID, please contact us.
